

Nuclear Power Without Nuclear Proliferation

Dr. Scott Sagan

Center for International Security and Cooperation
Stanford University

The Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty gives all countries the right to nuclear power for peaceful purposes. However, with the spread of nuclear power comes the spread of sensitive nuclear technology that can be applied to the development of nuclear weapons. With the ever-growing demands for energy, how can we guarantee nuclear nonproliferation?

Come and hear about the global nuclear future.
